In the months leading up to the Games, we recognise that athletes will be training intensively to bring their performance to the peak. As such, SportSG and SISA have worked on bringing funding support to our athletes to help them defray the cost and sacrifices made in the pursuit of excellence.

SportSG has committed a generous level of funding for our top Athletes (Shuran, Chloe, Lucas and Cheyenne), under the Gold Medal Potential program to defray their training costs, coaching fees, competition expenses, etc.

For the remaining athletes not covered under the program, SISA will be reimbursing their ice time at the Rink (from May to Aug 2017) and in addition, providing up to $2000 per athlete to subsidize costs incurred for training, coaching fees and gym usage, in preparation for the competition.

We hope all athletes make good use of the funding provided to develop their fullest potential and wish them all the best in their training towards the SEA Games.

Finally, amongst all the positivity - we are pleased to congratulate the recipients of the ISU Scholarship, Ms Cheyenne Goh and the 2017 Peter Lim Scholarship, Mr Xu Jing Feng & Ms Cheyenne Goh!
